Auburn Hills, Michigan, April 17, 2025 – BorgWarner has been awarded on Newsweek's list of Most Trustworthy Companies in America for the second consecutive year. This prestigious award is presented by Newsweek and Statista Inc., the world-leading statistics portal and industry ranking provider. The award list was announced on March 26, 2025, and can be viewed on Newsweek.com.

“At BorgWarner, we know that cultivating trust among our stakeholders is essential for success, and we strive to maintain that trust through reliable and transparent communication,” said Joseph Fadool, President and CEO, BorgWarner Inc. “We’re honored to be considered one of the most trustworthy companies in America, which would not be possible without the dedication and constant hard work from our teams to maintain our positive reputation and deliver value to our stakeholders.”

To identify the companies that have best cultivated trustworthiness in the eyes of consumers, employees and investors, the Most Trustworthy Companies in America 2025 list was built on an innovative methodology consisting of two evaluation components:

1. Survey Results (80%): 25,000 U.S. residents evaluated companies on 3 pillars of trust: customer, employee and investor trust.
2. Social Listening Analysis (20%): 304,000 mentions about the companies from various internet segments were gathered and rated according to their sentiment, virality and reach.

The 700 companies with the highest score have been awarded as one of the Most Trustworthy Companies in America 2025, including 21 companies in the Automotive & Components industry category. BorgWarner increased its rank within the category from 2024 to place in the top 10 in 2025.

Based on the results of the study, BorgWarner is ecstatic to be recognized on Newsweek's list of Most Trustworthy Companies in America 2025.
